NEW YORK—It wasn't every day a head of state would meet with Henry Kissinger and then step out to eat at a hotdog stand, while Secret Service agents kept out, "Step aside, step aside."

In a jam-packed schedule that included meetings with World Bank president Robert Zoellick, Kissinger, a former US Secretary of State, newspaper editors and the PFIUS Business Council, President Aquino also took time to receive the Elizabeth Arden New Medal from the College of Mount Saint Vincent, a top US Catholic school in this city.

P-Noy won't ax Puno yet

'Foes and friends are entitled to due process'

By Norman Bordadora

NEW YORK—President Aquino isn't about to accept the resignation of his good friend, Interior Undersecretary Ricon E. Puno, who is accused of receiving up to P8 million a month from illegal gambling operators since July.

He is also one of those expected to be eligible for the longed-for resignation that left eight Hong Kong tourists dead.

Several meetings to lure fresh investments into the country, the President defended Puno who, he said, was already with him even when he was part of the opposition during the Arroyo administration.

"There is a process. If I can give the process to our foes, our friends and allies are also entitled to that process—that you don't have them tagged just because someone asked that you do so," Mr. Aquino said when asked if he would accept Puno's resignation.

Puno said on Wednesday in Manila that he would submit a country resignation, to spare the President any more embarrassment.

He said he could submit his letter of resignation after Mr. Aquino returned from his trip to the United States.

Ex-Manila police chief: 'Biggest accountability'

THE INCIDENT investigation and Review Committee (IRC) has accused Chief Supt. Rodolfo Maglaya of incompetence and disobedience and said that his actions at the critical moments caused the "debacle" during last month's bloody hostage drama. A confidential portion of the IRC report, a copy of which was made available to the Inquirer yesterday, said that Maglaya had the "biggest accountability" among 12 people blamed for the botched rescue. President Aquino has withheld the committee's recommendations pending a review by Executive Secretary Pagolo Ochoa and Chief Presidential Legal Adviser Eduardo de Mesa. (See full text of the committee's recommendations on Page A4.)

No 'pork' in P90.9-B DPWH budget—Singson

By Michael Lim Llanes

NOT A SHADOW of the much-debated pork barrel shows up in the P90.9-billion proposed budget for 2011 of the transportation Department of Public Works and Highways (DPWH).

The pork barrel funds of senators and congressmen, euphemistically called the Priority Development Assistance Fund (PDAF), will not feature in the department, Public Works Secretary Napoleon Singson told the House committee on appropriations at a budget hearing on Wednesday.

The PDAF is now budgeted in the budget of the Department of Budget and Management (DBM), Singson said in his budget presentation to the DPWH.

Abad's pointer

This new setup effectively gives budget secretary Francisco Abad (point) over the reins of the pork barrel as congressmen and senators, upon disbursement from Malabon.

The DPWH used to administer the "fund assignment" of the PDAF, amounting to P40 million for each House member, including party list representatives, and P750 million for each senator.

The transfer of the PDAF to the "bill" component, goes to health, education and other social services that senators and congressmen feature on their constituencies or district beneficiaries.

Regardless of whether he is the representative of a congressional district or a so-called "noncongressional" member, each House member would receive P75 million to pork barrel his constituents, while senators get P200-million.

Abad yesterday confirmed that the pork barrel allocations are now on-line under the DPWH's budget.

He said that President Aquino had signed to start the pork barrel amounting to P90.9-billion, in the 2011 national budget.

In his budget presentation, Singson vowed to upgrade all national roads to "high quality" and "global" safety standards by the end of the Aquino administration in 2016.

He admitted that the country had made some considerable road network and basic road development in the countrywide.

He said the Philippines had the lowest ratio of paved road and paved road density compared with its Asian neighbors.

Only 16 percent of national roads are paved, which lags the country (rank 130) to the level of Cambodia and Vietnam, he said.

Benchmark

Singson said the DPWH under his stewardship would "benchmark" its road building activity in Malaysia, citing that Malaysian public infrastructure has made and bridge helped generate in 2005 alone 31 million tourist arrivals, compared with the Malay-prior five million arrivals per year.

He said he wanted good roads to boost road tourism.

Malaysian said there was a huge backlog of payments for road rights of way, the main reason for the continued or stalled highway construction projects like the E-1 passing through Uluwang, and the proposed and construction roads in other areas.

Under Singson's DPWH admitted that there was an unmet obligation of the public works budget across the country, clearing city commuters from House members like Senator Dr. Benigno Aquino III.

Bayan Lupa party list member Shady Carpio asked about the P16.75-billion worth of alleged "benighted appropriations" for various road projects in the 2010 budget.

American Assembly Caidan Cabal explained that the 2010 budget did not categorize status as money of roads, but just named the roads being repaired, upgraded, or constructed.

Singson said it was very possible that the system can be abused, but that this would no longer be tolerated.

14th NATIONAL URBAN PEST CONTROL WEEK

September 30-31, 2013 per Presidential Proclamation No. 940 s. 2003

5th Food Industry Sanitation And Urban Pest & Agro-Management

Focus On Good Manufacturing Practices, Sanitary Waste Handling and Integrated Pest Control of Green Management in Farms & Food Processing Facilities

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

My warmest greetings to the National Committee on Urban Pest Control (NCUPC) as you spearhead the celebration of the 14th National Urban Pest Control Week.

As urban centers grow, the need for effective, sustainable and environmentally conscientious ways to undertake urban pest control becomes more apparent. The NCUPC's efforts in meeting this need are truly commendable. Together, let us defend our people against the diseases that urban pests bring to our urban areas, and contribute to a healthier, more secure, and consequently more productive populace.

We are all aware of the problems we face as a nation, and have in fact all, at one point or another, voiced our symphony and despair. But now that the people themselves have directed us towards the straight and righteous path, it is incumbent upon each and every one of us, from the public sector to the private, from the most ordinary individual to the grandest collective, to take part in the solution. It is now time to be catalysts of hope. It is now time to rebuild and heal our nation.

Because indeed, the situation has changed - Pwede na muling mangarap. Tayo nang kumikung sa Aklatan ng ating mga pangarap.

Ayala-Alabang pools eyed as dengue source

By Mike Masinas

A $300-350 dengue case last been recorded in the poor Ayala Alabang Village, and officials expect that remaining grade and lake ponds will be eliminated by late summer or early fall.

Although the dengue incidence in Manila (dengue) has risen by 77 percent from last year, the number of confirmed cases in the capital city has remained stable. In 2009, 20 cases were reported in this year, according to (Dela) Manzanilla, secretary of health.

"The dengue is very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes," he said.

"The dengue cases are very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes," he said.

Neglected by owners

He added that some of the ponds might have been left untreated by their owners who would have been out of town or overseas.

Compared to the right other dengue cases in the city, Ayala Alabang has the highest number of cases, prompting the city to launch an investigation to find out why.

"We see the increase in dengue incidence is already alarming," Manzanilla said. "We see cases that have been untreated by mosquitoes."

He said the dengue cases are very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes.

It is a serious infection, city health chief Dr. (Dela) Manzanilla said the dengue cases are very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes.

She confirmed having found about 200 cases in the untreated ponds which could have been a breeding ground for dengue-carrying mosquitoes.

Abandoned houses

"We see the increase in dengue incidence is already alarming," Manzanilla said. "We see cases that have been untreated by mosquitoes."

Ayala Alabang Village manager (Dela) Manzanilla confirmed that there were indeed houses with ponds in Ayala Alabang which have been abandoned for years.

He said the dengue cases are very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes.

He said the dengue cases are very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes.

"I don't have any information on this," he said over the phone. "We see the increase in dengue incidence is already alarming."

Confirmed Cases

The city health office has recorded 230 confirmed dengue cases in Manila this year, up from 200 in 2009.

While public health was the cause, the dengue cases are very serious and there are houses with dengue cases and lake ponds that may have been untreated by mosquitoes.

According to data from the city health office, Ayala Alabang continued to post double-digit numbers of confirmed cases in the last quarter of the year, while incidence of the dengue in other barangays has started to drop this month.

Of the nine barangays, Ayala

Alabang is among the most dengue cases, compared to other barangays which have double or single-digit cases.

Overall, Manzanilla continues to be the first affected barangay in Metro Manila, but explained, crediting this to the efforts of the city government to keep the dengue cases in check.

'HEDGING DEAL'

Psalm denies P100-M loss

THE GOVERNMENT-owned Psalm Asset and Liability Management Corp. (Psalm) has denied reports that it lost P100 million in a deal with an international investment company that went bankrupt in 2008.

Contrary to the allegations of Senator Sonny Bay, Bay said, Psalm said the deal is a normal one with Lebanon Bank as Special Financing Inc. (SOFI) in July 2007 was not an investment but a "hedging transaction."

The hedging transaction was used as an insurance against foreign exchange value by Psalm said.

Insurance deal
According to a Psalm statement, the transaction was a principal only swap (POS), which is based on an insurance position, under which Psalm pays an annual interest premium of 2.00 percent on the notional amount of $100 million for 10 years.

In exchange, Psalm to the Philippine government has the right to buy $100 million in 2018, to guarantee the foreign exchange rate in that time, said.

When Lebanon went bankrupt, Psalm invoked the terms of the swap and the International Association of Banks (IAB) agreement, terminated the transaction on Nov. 2, 2008, and replaced it with a new POS with the same terms and conditions," Psalm said.

Derivatives

The New York-based title is a trade organization of participants in the market for over-the-counter derivatives. It has created a standardized contract, the International Association of Banks (IAB) agreement, for derivatives transactions.

Psalm said it also filed for claims to a New York court for approximately $1.4 million, representing the cost of the replacement of the POS and other expenses. Capital loss, damages, and it may be allowed under the provisions.

The group of foreign banks that took over the POS did not sue through a competitive selection process under the guidance of the Government Policy Implementation Board, the Government of Lebanon, and the Ministry of the Treasury and Finance.

Ngosong

Contrary to the allegations, Psalm said it was the proceeds from the sale of assets to the government-owned company that it used to pay the required premiums in the deal.

Psalm is a state enterprise created in 2006 to manage the provision of the assets and services of the National Treasury and Finance Corp. (NTFC).

'DILG + PNP = JUETENG'

Miriam's equation doesn't add up

By Alcino Pags

FOR THE PLEASURE of National Police (PNP) Sen. Miriam Defensor Santiago's equation of "DILG + PNP = Jueting," does not compute.

In a privilege speech on Wednesday, Justice said Jueting, or the illegal random search, thrived because of a conspiracy between the Justice Department of Interior and Local Government and equally corrupt Philippine National Police.

"The senator defined the police formula for Jueting to flourish that the Jueting formula shows the DILG head who is not chosen the PNP staff."

Reacting to the speech's speech, PNP Chief Director Gen. Raul dela Rosa said he did not want to be appointed to anyone.

Don't compute?

On the equation of Sen. Santiago, I must say. Not in any case, the appointment as PNP Chief was not because of my choice to anybody, much less the DILG Secretary. Therefore, the point of the equation will not compute, "the value and how a senator."

Defensor said the PNP defines the objective of Jueting as "to protect citizens of Jueting and all other forms of illegal Jueting."

"We have said this and again that Jueting is not a constitutional provision that needs the consent of all sections," he said.

Defensor said he had ordered an investigation and validation of the information, as Jueting presented by Santiago and retired Auxiliary Chief Constable to the Senate.

"I have ordered the Director for Intelligence and the Director for Investigation and Detection Management to validate the information and to make sure Jueting is not, as according to the law," said Defensor, who is a lawyer.

I am called on the public's attention forward with any information that could help police.

Surrender

THE SENSITIVE hearing on Justice has turned out to be a disaster for Justice Unharmless. It is a disaster for the entire nation.

Sill finding from the embankment over the failed Justice hearing attempt last Aug. 23, Puno found himself in the center of another controversy when his name landed on a list submitted by retired Archbishop Oscar Cruz to the Senate as one of the "historic recipients" of Justice's pardon. Puno, who is in charge of police matters in the Department of Interior and Local Government, may have been wrongly accused, but he did not help disprove suspicious minds with his evasive answers during the Senate hearing last Sept. 23.

Questioned by Senators, Puno admitted that "bribe and local officials" had tried to set up a meeting between him and some Justice operations. At first he refused to identify the operations, saying that revealing their names would get in water "months of surveillance" activities by the police, but later admitted that one of them was King Puno, the husband of the Pangasinan governor. However, Puno was reluctant to reveal the names of the "intermediaries," finally explaining that he could not remember their names anymore since he received no more visitors during the two months in which he had been in his post. It only became that there are now doubts about Puno's integrity. President Aquino should seriously consider depriving his resignation.

But Puno's lack of candor was disappointing, the solution to the old illegal numbers game now being suggested by some Senators is disheartening, to say the least. Senate President Jose Ponce Enrile and Sen. Jinggoy Estrada have revived the old solution put forward by the President that Justice brought down, Joseph Estrada, which is to legalize Justice. This proposal reveals a sense of helplessness on the part of the Senate in upholding the law since criminal syndicates put it to a test. The call is for a declaration of emergency.

This illegal numbers game, the argument goes, has been around since the American and has produced countless countless attempts to stamp it out. If we allow the rich the excessive wealth they, why not let the poor enjoy some of their small indulgences? Besides, without Justice, thousands of small families who rely on this illegal numbers racket for livelihood will die of hunger.

We disagree. We are with Archbishop Oscar Cruz of Eusebio Linares in saying that Justice was not a sinner. Cruz says it's just a matter of coming off in "two legs" that let him in from one house to another, with impunity the local officials and the police officers who intrude or protect in operations. And he points to the circumstances in the country where Justice (or Justice) could not produce anything good.

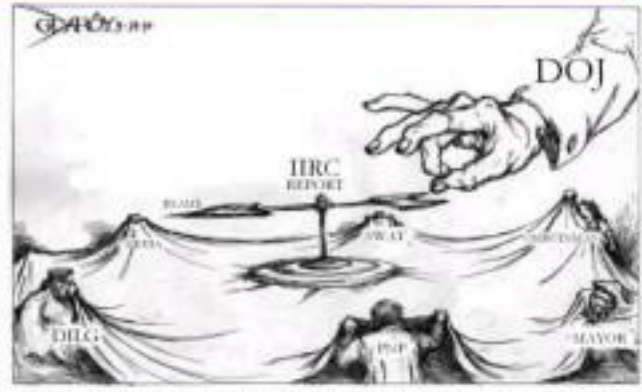

Indeed, Justice was a sinner. Not just because he had all forms of gambling, it stamped a people's cultural and moral foundations and corrupt social institutions, including the Church, but more importantly because, contrary to what some people say, it is the most destructive of all forms of gambling. It is the worst.

First of all, it makes into the very heart of our society the family. Other games of chance draw "with it" services. This one is done to drive pick-up and delivery. Nobody avoids a living from visiting the houses of the poor and treating them to a dinner or to a game of Jeopardy or Jeopardy.

Second, it is oppressive, of the poor more especially in fact, it primarily targets the poor. Where, it is a vice game. Justice is not a game of chance, or a game of skill. The winning outcome is pre-arranged before each draw, or pending on which combination of numbers the smallest bet has been placed.

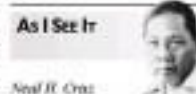

It is open even to the poorest man who is foolish enough to play with the last centavros in his pocket and to risk losing his family's rice seed for the chance to win a game that is heavily marked against him. Justice imposes on the poor more money just to make the Justice game super-rich, while the collectors along the dirty roads can't provide their families a decent existence.

Simplifying Justice is tantamount to looking down to respect their day-to-day survival in the street. It is like legitimizing it.

Driver's license printer has no contract with LTO

As I See It

Need R. Cruz

For the past seven years, I have been operating an online PNR printer without a contract.

When should have been done in the first place. The basic rule in government procurement is that when a supplier is not a supplier, the project is ignored by public bidding. Therefore, when the printer was replaced in 2000, a new contract should have been publicly bid.

With the change of administration, the LTO knew that it could not continue with its previous activities. Last time, the printer was replaced with a new printer. The printer was replaced with a new printer. The printer was replaced with a new printer.

However, before the new LTO did, it was the LTO's printer. The LTO's printer was the LTO's printer. The LTO's printer was the LTO's printer. The LTO's printer was the LTO's printer.

but did not change the printer. The printer was replaced with a new printer. The printer was replaced with a new printer. The printer was replaced with a new printer.

There is no country in the world that has moved from plastic cards to paper licenses. In fact, almost all countries are now shifting from paper to plastic cards because the latter are more durable. The Philippines will be the only country in the world that will go back to paper licenses.

Furthermore, there are environmental issues. In fact, the Philippines is a signatory to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change. The Philippines is a signatory to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change.

The European Union has even issued a directive mandating all EU countries to use plastic to driver's licenses cards to stop the problem of plastic waste. The Philippines is a signatory to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change.

There are international standards to issue our driver's license cards. These are not just plastic cards, but paper cards, as required by the standards.

Why are we repeating what all other countries are doing?

The LTO is the LTO. The LTO is the LTO. The LTO is the LTO. The LTO is the LTO. The LTO is the LTO. The LTO is the LTO. The LTO is the LTO.

QC demolition snarls traffic on Edsa

Stone-throwing between residents, wrecking crew leaves several injured

By Henry C. Carvajal

HOCHS snarled on the northbound lane of Edsa and backed traffic on the busy thoroughfare for several hours as thousands of illegal settlers in Sitio San Roque, Barangay Bagong Pag-asa, Quezon City, thwarted a demolition team's efforts to tear down their shanties yesterday morning.

At least three stone-throwers at each site, several people were injured, including one policeman, some residents and members of the demolition crew and injured photographer Raffy Carano.

An armed 3 p.m., a section of the shanties was removed with wooden beams and rocks, but later after the stone-throwing began, with traffic cleared to move, were removed again.

"There was some rock-throwing and people. Some of my men were slightly injured," Senior Insp. Benjamin Magpantay, head of the 380 member riot police deployment in the area, told MNI.

The policemen who were outnumbered were held back by a ball of missiles as they attempted to charge the protesters, while water cannon boats also failed to disperse the crowd, according to MNI photographers at the scene.

The residents stood on the road with arms linked. Their belongings ended up in the middle of Edsa.

By noon, the largely unopposed demolition team was forced to stop their work in the area. Some of them also made up teams and drove them back at residents.

Some 4,000 families live on the 140-hectare North Triangle property which is owned by the National Housing Authority (NHA). The government agency wants to develop the lot into the Quezon City Business Center in partnership with a private firm.

However, Quezon City Regional Trial Court Judge Renato T. Lim, Lina C. Quijano-Padilla said the demolition was premature.

"There should have been no demolition in defiance to a court hearing interview (Sept. 20)," she said in a longer expediting the NHA during a hearing in the afternoon on the urgent petition for a temporary restraining order (TRO) filed by residents.

She also issued a TRO which according to her would remain in effect until the hearing today.

Senior Insp. Carlo Gonzales of the Quezon City Police Bureau (QCPB) said the stone-throwing started at around 9 a.m. when residents who were asked to vacate demolition teams began tearing down shanties.

Several policemen who were lined up on Edsa to keep the peace also ended up being injured, he added.

The demolition team, however, managed to tear down 70 houses before they were forced to pull back.

Gonzales, who maintained a firm footing on the boulevard when he tried to stop the residents and demolition men from trading blows, added, said they were forced to close down Edsa, particularly the area from Quezon Avenue to EDSA South, to prevent motorists' commutes.

As a result, buses and private vehicles were stuck in traffic for at least four hours, all the way to EDSA Circle Interchange.

"I had to wait for several blocks because the bus I was riding in was forced to take another route," resident Marlene, a teacher at Quezon City Elementary School, told the Inquirer.

She added that a grandmother and her two-year-old grandson were also forced to get off the bus and walk.

"I pity the old woman because she had to get down at every stop."

Parricide raps filed vs husband of Ruby Rose

By Beverly T. Marcelino

PARRICIDE charges were filed against the husband of Ruby Rose Barasorda Jimenez in the Malabon-Northern Regional Trial Court (RTC), six months after the Department of Justice indicted him on one of the charges in the case.

Manuel Jimenez III now joins his father, lawyer Manuel Jimenez Jr., and two others as one of the suspects in the murder of his wife.

The Malabon-Northern RTC said the justice department filed the charges on Sept. 13, amending the criminal information pertaining to the Barasorda Jimenez murders.

The court is still scheduled to finally submit the additional charges to a court hearing on Oct. 1.

Jimenez Jr. and his brother Lito Jimenez, along with two others, were unjustly charged as principals by state prosecutors in the conspiracy to kill Barasorda Jimenez when they filed the murder charges against the suspects in August 2010.

On March 1, then Justice Secretary Aguirre withdrew the charges from the list of the accused and added Manuel Jimenez Jr. instead as a co-conspirator in the crime.

Jimenez Jr.'s inclusion as a co-conspirator has had been a bitter-sweet victory for the Barasorda family, who asked the DOJ to have every suspect in the list of accused.

Garcia pushes for full P740-M PSC budget

By Marc Anthony Reyes

PHILIPPINE SPORTS Commissioner John Edgar Garcia yesterday pushed for the agency's P740-million budget before the Senate Finance committee.

Garcia said that if the General Appropriations Act approves the budget for 2011, the PSC will have no problem implementing all its projects, including grassroots sports programs like the Philippine National Games and Tennis Project, as well as infrastructure development.

The Department of Budget and Management, however, estimated the amount of P740 million only six to PSC, which is a far cry from the P928 million the GMA approved for the agency this year.

The PSC is also working on the government's involvement in the percentage of funds it receives from the Philippine Amusement and Gaming Corp.

Garcia said that if the PSC gets the legally mandated 3 percent of the gross earnings of the agency, amounting to P71 billion a year, it would cover the reduced budget from the GMA.

The GMA fund covers the PSC's operations and grants to promote the national level games, while money from the PSC and other sources comprise the National Sports Development Fund, which is used for all expenses, training and competition of athletes.

Garcia said that adequate funds will help the country move closer to international competition.

The PSC is in the midst of preparations for the Asian Games in Guangzhou, which it has contracted P30 million for the PSC delegation.

GOVERNMENT EFFORTS to reduce poverty in the country appear to have borne fruit with the World Bank committing to financially assist the Philippines in meeting its Millennium Development Goals (MDGs).

President Aquino on Wednesday met with World Bank president Robert Zoellick, who paid a courtesy call at the Rotor Ballroom in New York City.

During the meeting, Mr. Aquino stressed that the finance institution would be "ready to bring a stronger partnership with the Philippines for achieving inclusive growth." The World Bank chief said that the Aquino administration is working in the right direction, when it started to implement programs aimed at clearing up investments, fighting corruption in government, and ensuring financial assistance to the poor. It appeared the agreement is in line with President Aquino and his focus on his plan for fighting poverty and promoting economic growth and good governance. Zoellick said it is a statement issued by the World Bank president.

RP shipped in more oil in 1st half

By Amy B. Bono

THE GOVERNMENT'S oil import bill grew 56 percent to $2.1 billion in the first half of the year due to high costs of crude and finished products, up 17 percent in volume shipped from abroad.

The Department of Energy said the imports consisted of 52.5 percent crude oil and 47.5 percent finished products.

DGE data showed that crude oil imports grew by 30.2 percent to 21.6 million barrels (MMBBL) in the first semester from last year's 20.5 MMBBL despite the government's shutdown of refineries by local refiners in the last half of 2009.

Import cost for crude oil also surged by 47 percent to $21.7 million or an average $21 cent of $76.60 a barrel (BBL). Last year's bill only reached $14.4 million or an average $21 cent of $66.00 a BBL.

The import volume of finished petroleum products fell by 15.1 percent to 26.4 MMBBL in the first six months of the year from 32.5 MMBBL during the same period in 2009. This decline was partly due to the increase in its domestic crude and higher refinery production output during the period, the DGE said.

Import cost for finished products rose by 22.1 percent to $2.4 billion at an average $21 cent of $91.20 a BBL. Last year's bill was $1.9 billion or an average $21 cent of $66.00 a BBL.

In total, crude, refined crude and petroleum products inventory stood at 35.8 MMBBL, equivalent to 52 days worth of supply compared to the same period last year however, this was lower by 0.5 percent from the recorded stockpile of 35.9 MMBBL.

Also, the country's total demand of petroleum products for the first half went up by 5.1 percent to 56.2 MMBBL from last year's 53.3 MMBBL. This translated to an average daily requirement of 12.9,000 barrels.

Rhett Eala marks 20th year in fashion with a 'happy' show

He's moving on from the iconic Philippine-map logo and into more surprises (like Venus Raj as model?)

By Chloë V. Moral

RHETT EALA marks his 20th year in fashion with two shows on Oct. 5. But in typical Rhett fashion, there has hardly been any buzz, the prep quite hush-hush.

From his painting exhibit at Silverline Gallery called "Divides" to new social activities, side-out of his anniversary activities, has been low-key.

But Eala has never really been about frenzy and drama. Unlike many of his contemporaries, he's known to be calm, never one to hang on his own drama.

He seemed as large as element of surprise, he says. "It's all over the papers, people would say they've seen it all, and I didn't want that."

Perhaps that's why even his publicity photos tell very little. The elegant Eala doesn't tell his signature exuberant plotting, almost a relic of his "Face Off" collection from 2009. The plotting and plotting will still be there, he explains, but what he's keeping under wraps are the brand's general plans, as he revealed only on the Oct. 5 show at Philippine Museum City.

Part of the show will be the Holiday 2010 collection for CLOUTIER. CLOUTIER, the Philippine fashion brand on some of the most iconic Philippine map—emblazoned of the 39-year-old clothing brand's somewhat revival—CLOUTIER is "moving on from the map" to establish CLOUTIER C2 as a fashion brand, says its creative director.

Will Rhett Eala's fashion show-up? Venus Raj model for Rhett Eala? The designer certainly hopes so.

Circus Maximus

The Lumpy Lender

Conclusions

ECOLENE POLYESTERITY is alive and well-based at London Fashion Week, going mainstream in a matter of color, print and design.

A circus of colorful dresses, sequins, silk, even jeans, has come to town, and it looks extremely exciting.

The new generation of designers—Lester Cary, Michael van der Ham, Mary Katsionas, John McIlwain, Steve Platts, Matthew Williamson and Christopher Kane—has created the spiritual codex of the British film, “William Shakespeare,” the new work of Peter Hill, and the black-and-white music of Pop-art for wearable outfits that will bring back the joy of dressing up every year.

The other mouth of 70% goes rock when sliced and are more or less uniform. From the 10% that goes in hot, pink, candy rhodes and pink, the overall feeling was low-sweetness. There were plums like those of impurities, dinner were big and biting everything properly balanced with strict structure and crafted proportion, but with a dose of curious delight.

London. Behind doors, what is my through in following volume of staff.

London Fashion Week reeks of English eccentricity in design and color printed with Ray Air pattern and patch of sewing stripes, and glaucous plaidism overlaid with a black and white pattern.

Shade was light and natural. The new shows were studio-kind hangouts at Paul Smith's all-glass collection, the designer bags lit up in a room at home Wisconsin Wisconsin Paul Smith.

In fact, Hays was flying somewhere in silk canopy, shrouded dome, perforated leather and candle lantern on high heels. It is the high noon hour of 50 digital prints championed by the late last designer Alexander McQueen, who was given a dramatic memorial service at St. Paul's Cathedral with tributes by Anne Hathaway and Sirs Mendy and with ballads from Sarah Jessica Parker, Daphne Guinness and Naomi Campbell in all bright, new, black.

It is the mercurial genius of McQueen's inimitable gaze that inspired British fashion designers to establish London as a premiere fashion capital where haute originality and tactile flow will bring their names.

Here are the best and the brightest trends from the show, cat and mouse (a.k.a. W&A).

Dressing in dresses

Dropped waistline, printed tunic, asymmetric shoulder frocks at Jessica

AT JESSICA'S mid-19th-century 2010 collection, silhouettes are tailored, close to the body showing off the feminine figure and form, while the waistline has lowered and widening the waist. Dresses take on many different forms, starting from casual day-wear pieces to chic evening numbers.

The collection showcases printed dresses made of soft silk crepe and fluid silk wrap dresses with dropped waistline and corset bodice detailing. Other highlights are short-skirted, a-line dresses in romantic lace and pleated dresses made of soft structured poly-tulle memory fabric.

The color palette goes into two divergent poles. The first takes inspiration from white silhouettes, subtle white such as other genres, purple and magenta are predominant. The second is based on the metropolitan lifestyle, composed of the strong and practical colors of black, white, red and blue.

Color highlights

The military-blue seems to make a fashion statement as it goes to work in the digital printed summer patterns seen down at a single and the blue-contrast with asymmetrical shoulder details in topcoat blue. Shades of grey are also featured extensively throughout the season, creating a perfect

This season, pretty hats taken on a new twist. The models exuberant nature allows designers print belted dress in silk crepe as a key feature of the season. The emphasis is placed on structured prints and enlarged motifs such as the oversized polka dots built print on long-sleeved A-line dress. With technology advancement, new photographic digital prints and spread-on designs are key trends. It is best demonstrated on the black and white pop art inspired inspired dress.

Black and white element trend persisted. It has been more and more a classic long-sleeved tunic work in subtle stripes the city look. Silky crepe, double-layer necks, short-sleeved fabric, lace and tulle design elements are among the design features to create fluidity and comfort.

3 ways to treat eyebags and undereye circles

AS IF TRYING to make up for lost time, I seem to be going through eye creams at a more rapid pace these days. I only started using the Fine Lines Time Zone Anti-Line/Wrinkle Eye Cream, which is already halfway finished. Over the weekend, I've finished the Clarifac retinoid and I am considering one of the Eye Contour lotions.

Here are some tips to help you manage undereye dilemmas:
 1. Use one cream all the time.
 This can be a rich cream for some or a light, cooling gel for others. Luckily, I've been switching up my eye cream team—before bedtime and right before applying makeup in the morning—because my eyebags are starting to show, with the skin slightly drooping around the edges. It's the kind that can't be covered by concealer and can only be smoothed by Flourishing.

2. Cheerily conceal dark under-eye circles.
 "Concealer is [the answer of the answer]—it instantly makes you look well-rested," says makeup artist Maika Brown, who is famous for her super-smooth face bases and creamy concealers. "I suggest the Clarifac cream and use your concealer up with a pink or peach-colored color. This concealer paired with a yellow-based concealer. Be sure to apply concealer close to the lashes and to the inner corners of the eye as well."

The key to successfully concealing dark patches from your skin is to use a concealer that matches your skin tone. Then layer the lightest concealer (one or two more than a shade lighter) on top. If you apply the latter first, it will just sink in and highlight what you're trying to conceal.

3. Get enough sleep.
 In terms of beauty and health benefits, nothing beats a full night's sleep. So, avoid over-exercising a few nights before your head hits the pillow and take advantage of stretching sessions with relaxing essential oils such as lavender, ylang or rose to soothe aches. Any thing that melts tension and signals your body that it's time to unwind. You may even want to use a bit of dark concealer to mask the day's tired and start off a good night's rest.

Ultimate jeans sale

THERE'S JUST as big a lot of excitement when jeans—which can be considered the most iconic piece of clothing in modern times—go on sale. But when this happens in the place that has the widest assortment in the country, it's a fashion event like no other.

The Ultimate Young Sale, which is ongoing until Sept. 30 at the MGM Department Store brings together the best young models in town, offering great finds at 50 percent off unadorned beauty. It's clear jeans are as global and local brands like Jap. Inv., Weyinger, Von Dutch, Remon, Pauldell's, Hudson, Frepps, H&M, Silver Jeans and more take the spotlight side by side with HM's as house labels—True Love, Red Jeans, Belen, Sincerely, No Color, Shadd, Hollister, The Petty Coe and Others.

Before that, take and match these with the hippest selection of jeans, work shirts, cargo pants and other denim pieces you can mix, match and layer to get the look you want.

The US Postal Service is seeking until Sept. 30 at the Ladies Home and Gifts Store Ware Department of all IM Department Store branches.

"It seems a shame that a world definitely comes from our end," she continued. "But I know that your talent management team at MTA Magic doesn't market or promote its talent in a negative way. I would definitely want to be known and recognized for my talent — and not for any reason."
